

JOHN MORRIS

John Morris began his career in the food service industry, running an outside catering company in Chiswick before opening his own restaurant. Drakes on the Pond, just outside Guildford, opened in 2000 and for the past 5 years the husband and wife team have successfully retained their Michelin star by delivering high standard seasonal food and delighting diners with a continually innovative menu and exemplary service.

John has built up an extremely successful small business, with a personal touch that is in no danger of compromise through restaurant expansion. The quality of the food is the single most important thing in this delightful restaurant, and it really does speak for itself.
